ARTIST STATEMENT

As a mother and an artist, I explore the radical importance of care and nurture as forces vital to the survival of humanity and the planet. In a world shaped by exploitation and constant productivity, my work calls for a return to empathy, and respect for life.

Drawing on my background in architecture and experiences living in five countries, I bring both structure and emotional depth to my practice. Through large, vibrant murals of pregnant and caregiving figures, I seek to make the unseen visible. By honoring the strength and creativity within motherhood, I aim to inspire a more compassionate, connected society. Working with bold color, clear form, and strong outlines, I create images that radiate warmth and invite reflection on what truly sustains us.
